

Adventist Women's Devotional Book

Guidelines

We solicit devotionals written by Seventh-day Adventist women based on a personal experience of God's involvement in the life of a woman and showing how this experience demonstrates a Biblical principle which readers can apply to everyday life.

Most Important Guidelines

- The word limit is 250.
- Type in English.
- Include a devotional title and a selected Bible verse with its chapter and verse(s) reference.
- Footnote all quoted sources, including Ellen G. White quotes.
- Biblical references within the devotional are not footnoted, but please include the Bible version.
- Always include your name on the devotional exactly as you wish to see it in print. Capitalize SURNAME for alphabetizing.
- Include contact information with a street mailing address and telephone number.
- Include a biographical sketch of three to four typewritten lines or less.
- Devotionals are accepted in the following format: Word, PDF, or typed within in the body of an email. We do not download files from unknown senders for security reasons.
- One devotional is currently accepted per book per author.
- Submit your devotional by email: womensministries@gc.adventist.org.
- Devotionals are accepted at any time, but they may not be published immediately.
- October 31 is the deadline to receive devotionals for the editor's next book but due to subject matter or collection needs, late devotionals may be accepted sooner. Please submit all year round! (See the production schedule at the bottom of this document.)

Pointers for Writing Devotionals

Whether or not your submission is accepted, “Pointers for Writing Devotionals,” will inspire you to write another devotional or to rewrite the devotional in front of you. It was written for our devotional book contributors by a former devotional book editor, Carolyn R. Sutton.

Biographical Sketch

Your biographical sketch—no longer than four or five lines—is submitted each year with your devotional and current contact information. You may include what you do for an occupation, what you do for your church or community, what you do in your spare time, and what your additional accomplishments are. You may include your ministry website address.

How do you want your name to appear in the book? Please always use that name with your submission and biographical sketch.

Notify us of any changes

If your address changes, please notify us promptly (womensministries@gc.adventist.org). The deadline is July 31 each year before your devotional book is shipped in September or October. Please notify us if you plan to relocate before the end of the year. We will hold your book to send when provided with your new address.

Copyright Issues

All submissions become the property of the General Conference Women's Ministries Department. Unused manuscripts cannot be returned.

If your devotional has previously been published elsewhere, please include a letter from the previous publisher granting us permission to use your devotional.

If your submission is accepted and published in the Women's Ministries devotional book, it cannot be used in another publication without written permission from General Conference Women's Ministries.

Statements of permission from you or from us are also needed for self-published devotionals, including your own internet blog.

About Your Contributions

We solicit contributions from women on a wide variety of spiritual topics. Each devotional should be based on a personal experience of God's involvement in the life of a woman and show how this experience demonstrates a Biblical principle which readers can apply to everyday life. Please, no sermons or doctrinal studies. This book will be marketed to Christians of all denominations; therefore, terminology should be used that can be understood by all Christians. We encourage global participation, which contributes a varied cultural and ethnic flavor to each book.

Authors are encouraged to submit no more than two devotionals in any one year unless notified otherwise. If you have been notified that a devotional of yours was not accepted, please do not resubmit it unless you have made significant changes that more accurately reflect the devotional book guidelines and the list of pointers for writers.

Those who contribute to this project agree that all royalties of the devotional books will go to the Women's Ministries Scholarship Fund of the division in which the book is published. They further agree that they will receive no payment for any contributions submitted or accepted for publication. However, each published author will receive a complimentary copy of the book from Pacific Press® Publishing Association.

Book royalties fund scholarships

Thank you for contributing to our women's devotional book, which has been published annually since 1992. The royalties from book sales have contributed significantly (more than 1.4 million US dollars) in funding more than 2,789 scholarships to Adventist women from at least 146 countries, who are enrolled in Adventist higher education where it is available.

Submissions that are not accepted

If your submission was not accepted, it may be for the following reasons:

- It is too long or too short.
- It is a tribute to an individual.
- It is not a personal experience or insight that applies to women.
- It is a personal experience that promotes a project, book, or accomplishment.
- It summarizes someone else's experience that you found printed elsewhere.
- It is not fully showing God's presence in the experience.
- It is not uplifting or encouraging; it is too depressing or sad in nature or message; or it is not dealt with in a devotionally, spiritually redemptive manner.

- It is similar to other submissions already accepted or on a topic addressed many times.
- It covers too many topics, none of which has enough information to be developed into a complete devotional.
- It might be offensive to someone of other religious, cultural, ethnic, or racial background.
- It degrades men.
- It is more of a sermon or doctrinal study, not a devotional in tone.
- It is too controversial in subject theme.
